Show that $\nabla \cdot (\nabla \times \mathbf{F}) = 0$ for any vector field [duplicate]

The most brutally simple approach:
Write out the curl of a generic $\mathbf{F} = (F_x, F_y, F_z)$ $\nabla \times \mathbf{F} = (\nabla_x F_y - \nabla_y F_x, \nabla_y F_z - \nabla_z F_y, \nabla_z F_x - \nabla_x F_z)$, and then take its divergence. The only assumption required is that all partial ...

Residential PV system capacity factor is not directly comparable to other technologies' capacity factors. Other technologies' capacity factors (including utility-scale PV) are represented exclusively in AC ...

Is 0^0 an imaginary number?

Since $0 \in \mathbb{R}$, $0 \notin \mathbb{R}$, there is no dispute that $0 \in \mathbb{R}$ is a real number. So, by symmetry, it makes sense to also consider $0 \notin \mathbb{R}$ an imaginary number. (Wolfram Alpha agrees.) Hence, it makes
