Romania s policy on industrial and commercial energy storage cabinet

Overview

The National Energy Regulatory Authority (ANRE) announced on July 8 a new framework that eliminates the double taxation of electricity stored in battery energy storage systems (BESS), sending a strong market signal to commercial and industrial (C&I) players and renewable. The National Energy Regulatory Authority (ANRE) announced on July 8 a new framework that eliminates the double taxation of electricity stored in battery energy storage systems (BESS), sending a strong market signal to commercial and industrial (C&I) players and renewable. Romania is increasingly recognizing the crucial role of energy storage in supporting renewable generation, grid stability, and energy security. For investors considering projects here, understanding the local legal regime is essential —laws are evolving fast, new incentives are being offered, and. in the electricity sector. The EU's strategy for energy system integration lays out the groundwork for how an increasingly electrified economy raise in storage capacity. 5 billion EUR non-refundable grant program for standalone battery storage systems has ignited investor interest, with 2. Key. From 2025 to 2030, the country plans to add no less than 4GW (AC) of new energy storage installations, with storage capacity expected to reach more than 480MWh in 2025. This trend reflects Romania's determination to respond positively to the global wave of energy storage development and to see. In a decisive move to support its clean energy transition, Romania has overhauled a key regulatory barrier holding back investment in energy storage. Key issues of cross-border relevance.
