Overview

We tested 30 portable power stations over 12 camping trips. While 300-400Wh is enough for basic camping needs, we chose higher capacity units for several reasons. Higher capacity allows longer trips without recharging. And, unlike gas generators, power stations don't emit potentially lethal carbon monoxide fumes and can be recharged with optional solar. Portable power supplies give me backup power for phones, tablets, small electronics, and sometimes even small appliances. These devices usually store electricity in a rechargeable battery and let me use it when I need it most.
